Preface and acknowledgements

Contents

Abbreviations

Introduction

CHAPTER 1

Environmental, Socioeconomic and Political Background of the European Common Fisheries Policy

1 Overview of multiple demands and pressures on the EC coastal zones and marine ecosystem

1.1 Overview of human activities affecting Europe’s coasts and marine waters

1.2 Overview of the nature and socioeconomic significance of the Community fisheries sector

2 State of the marine environment throughout the Community

2.1 State of the fish stocks of Community interest

2.2 State of the Community marine ecosystem in relation to fish stocks

3 Formation of the Common Fisheries Policy

3.1 The central elements of the Common Fisheries Policy

3.2 The structure of the political debate

3.3 The interests of the Member States and negotiations in the Council

3.4 The Commission’s role in the CFP

3.5 The political dialogue with the European Parliament

3.6 Public perception and its integration in the CFP

CHAPTER 2

Institutional and Organisational Structures

1 Community competences under the Treaty

1.1 Legal bases

1.2 Territorial scope

1.3 Vertical competence order

1.3.1 Exclusive and shared competences

1.3.2 Fisheries management (internally and externally)

1.3.3 Structural policies and market organisation

1.3.4 Implementation, control and enforcement

1.3.5 Trade policy

1.4 Horizontal competence order

2 Substantive and territorial scope of CFP secondary legislation

3 Distribution of tasks – centralisation v. decentralisation

3.1 Re-delegated powers

3.1.1 Member States emergency measures

3.1.2 Member States conservation and management measures within the 12 nm mile zone

3.1.3 Member States measures applying to vessels flying their flag
3.1.4 Member States option to adopt technical management measures
3.1.5 Right to reserve fishing in the 12 nm zone to Member States nationals
3.1.6 Allocation of quotas assigned to the Member States
3.1.7 Member States tasks regarding the market organisation
3.1.8 Member States tasks regarding structural policies
3.2 Unregulated fisheries issues
4 Regulating fisheries for environmental purposes
4.1 Vertical Competences with regards to environmental policies
4.2 Horizontal competences
4.3 Legal evaluation of the competence conflict
4.4 Conflicting principles
4.5 Possible solutions
5 Participation rights of stakeholders within the CFP legislative process
5.1 Consultative Committee on Fisheries and Aquaculture
5.2 Regional Advisory Councils
5.3 Assessment and critique

CHAPTER 3
Fisheries Management under the CFP
1 Fisheries management instruments
1.1 Pertinent terms and concepts under the Community’s management regime
1.2 Quantitative catch and effort limitations
1.2.1 Total allowable catch and quotas
1.2.1.1 The creation of the Community TAC system
1.2.1.2 The annual setting of TACs
1.2.1.3 Quotas, quota flexibility and quota hopping
1.2.1.4 Legal commitment to sustainability, precaution and ecosystems
1.2.1.5 Critique and perspectives
1.2.2 Effort limitations
1.2.2.1 The development of the effort regime
1.2.2.2 The current effort regime
1.2.2.3 Critique of the current effort regime
1.3 Licensing system
1.4 Technical measures
1.4.1 The current technical measures
1.4.2 Critique and perspectives of the current technical measures
1.5 Procedural management instruments
1.5.1 Multi-annual measures
1.5.1.1 Recovery plans
1.5.1.2 Management plans
3.3.1 The exception to the principle of free access
3.3.2 National conservation measures instituted within the 12 nm zones
3.3.2.1 Fisheries law in Germany
3.3.2.2 National conservation measures
3.3.2.3 Conservation measures in Lower-Saxony
3.4 Small-scale fisheries interest representation
3.4.1 Situation of small scale fishers in Germany – Lower-Saxony
3.4.2 Interest representation at the Community level
3.5 Analysis and interim summary
4 Finding the right combination of management instruments

CHAPTER 4

Community Instruments Promoting Fisheries
1 Sources of promotion to the Community’s fisheries sectors
2 Forms and impact of promotion on fisheries resources – theories and facts
3 Promotional measures within the Community’s structural policies
3.1 Administrative aspects of the CFP’s structural policy
3.1.1 The Co-financing System
3.1.2 The administration of CFP structural aid
3.2 Objectives and principles of the structural policies 3.3 Promotion from 1970 to 1982 – the build-up
3.3.1 Structure, scope and objectives of the central regulation
3.3.2 Fleet renewals, modernisation of vessels and improvements to fishing ports
3.3.3 Promoting the cod-fishing sector
3.3.4 Aquaculture
3.3.5 Processing and marketing sector
3.4 Promotion from 1983 to 1986: Build-up, territorial expansion and restructuring
3.4.1 Changes and Innovations
3.4.2 Adjusting capacity – Multiannual Guidance Programme I (1983-86)
3.4.3 Construction, modernisation and conversion of the fleet – Regulation 2908/83
3.4.4 Protect and making fuller use of coastal areas – Regulation 2908/83
3.4.5 Promoting exploratory expeditions and joint-ventures – Regulation 2909/83
3.4.6 Subsidising temporary or permanent withdrawals – Directive 515/83
3.4.7 Support for sardine canning plants
3.4.8 Integrated Programmes for the Mediterranean
3.5 Promotion from 1987 to 1993 – Build-up, territorial expansion and restructuring

3.5.1 Changes and innovations

3.5.2 Adjusting capacity – Multi-annual Guidance Programme II (1987-91)

3.5.3 Promoting construction, modernisation and conversion of the fleet

3.5.4 Protecting and making greater use of coastal areas

3.5.5 Promoting exploratory expeditions and joint-ventures

3.5.6 Subsidising temporary and permanent withdrawals

3.5.7 Financial aid for material investment in facilities at fishing ports

3.5.8 Financial aid for the search of new market outlets

3.5.9 Specific measures

3.5.10 Subsidising the processing and marketing segment

3.5.11 1990 Reform – Changes and innovations

3.6 Promotion from 1994 to 1999 – Build-up, territorial expansion and restructuring

3.6.1 Changes and innovations

3.6.2 Sectoral Plans, aid applications and Community Programmes

3.6.3 The third and fourth Multiannual Guidance Programmes (1993-02)

3.6.4 Promotion of construction, modernisation and conversion of the fleet

3.6.5 Protecting and making fuller use of coastal areas

3.6.6 Promoting exploratory expeditions and joint-ventures

3.6.7 Supporting the scrapping, permanent transfer or re-assignment

3.6.8 Financial aid for the material investment in fishing ports

3.6.9 Financial aid for the search of new market outlets

3.6.10 Promotion of operations by trade members

3.6.11 Subsidising the processing and marketing segment

3.6.12 Social measures

3.6.13 1998 Amendments – Extension of social measures

3.6.14 The Community Initiative PESCA

3.7 Promotion from 2000-2006 – A turnaround?

3.7.1 Changes and innovations

3.7.2 The advancement of Community Programmes and sectoral plans

3.7.3 Promoting construction, modernisation and conversion

3.7.4 Joint enterprises

3.7.5 Subsidising temporary or permanent withdrawals
3.7.6  Encouraging capital investment for the protection and development of aquatic resources, aquaculture, fishing port facilities, processing and marketing and inland fishing

3.7.7  Finding and promoting new market outlets

3.7.8  Socioeconomic measures

3.7.9  Support for small-scale coastal fishing

3.7.10 Temporary cessation of activities and other financial compensations

3.7.11 Innovative measures and technical assistance

3.7.12 Operations by members of the trade

3.7.13 Reform in 2002 – The new common fisheries policy

3.7.13.1 Adjustment of fishing capacity and the new entry-exit scheme

3.7.13.2 Fleet renewal and equipment or modernisation of vessels

3.7.13.3 Scrapping of vessels

3.7.13.4 The permanent transfer of vessels

3.7.13.5 Socioeconomic measures

3.7.13.6 Temporary cessation of fishing activities and other financial compensation

3.8  Promotion from 2007 to 2013 – the European Fisheries Fund

3.8.1  Changes and innovations

3.8.2  National Strategic Plans and National Programmes

3.8.3  Priority Axis 1: Measures for the adaptation of the Community fishing fleet

3.8.3.1 Public aid for the permanent cessation of fishing activities

3.8.3.2 Public aid for the temporary cessation of fishing activities

3.8.3.3 Investments on board fishing vessels and selectivity

3.8.3.4 Small-scale coastal fishing

3.8.3.5 Socioeconomic compensation for management of the Community fishing fleet

3.8.4  Priority Axis 2: Aquaculture, inland fishing, processing and marketing of fishery and aquaculture products

3.8.4.1 Productive investments in aquaculture

3.8.4.2 Aqua-environmental measures

3.8.4.3 Public health measures

3.8.4.4 Animal health measures

3.8.4.5 Inland fishing

3.8.4.6 Processing and marketing of fisheries and aquaculture products

3.8.5  Priority Axis 3: measures of common interest

3.8.5.1 Collective actions

3.8.5.2 Measures intended to protect and develop aquatic fauna and flora
3.8.5.3 Fishing ports, landing sites and shelters 219
3.8.5.4 Development of new markets and promotional campaigns 219
3.8.5.5 Pilot projects 220
3.8.5.6 Modification for reassignment of fishing vessels 220
3.8.6 Priority Axis 4: Sustainable development of fisheries areas 221
3.8.7 Priority Axis 5: Technical assistance 222
4 Instruments promoting fisheries in the market organisation 223
5 Other sources of assistance to the Community’s fisheries sector 225
6 The future of promotion under the World Trade Organization (WTO) 227

CHAPTER 5 Towards an Integrated Approach to Promotion and Management of Fisheries
1 The logic and limits of promotion and management 231
2 The state of integration of fisheries promotion and management 233
2.1 The first phase, 1970 – 1982 234
2.2 The second phase, 1983 – 1986 235
2.3 The third phase, 1987 – 1993 237
2.4 The fourth phase, 1994 – 1999 238
2.5 The fifth phase, 2000 – 2006 240
2.6 The sixth phase, 2007 – 2008 242
3 Practical lessons to be learned from CFP experiences 244

CHAPTER 6 Access to Justice
1 Access to judicial review 251
2 Treaty provisions on access 251
2.1 Standing of privileged applicants 252
2.2 Standing for non-privileged private parties and interests groups 252
2.2.1 Causes of action 252
2.2.2 The ‘direct concern’ criteria 253
2.2.3 The ‘individual concern’ criteria 254
2.2.4 Standing of interest groups and environmental organisations 256
2.2.5 Indirect access 258
3 Recent critique 258
4 Recent developments 259
4.1 The Aarhus Convention 260
4.2 The Aarhus Regulation 1367/06 261
4.3 Case T-91/07 WWF UK Ltd. v. Council 263
4.3.1 Order of the CFI 264
4.3.2 Comments and criticism of the decision in Case T-91/07
WWF v. Council

5 Conclusion

CHAPTER 7

Legal Review of Measures Adopted under the CFP

1 Compatibility of the CFP regime with international law management requirements

1.1 Harvesting limits
1.1.1 1982 UNCLOS
1.1.1.1 Territorial sea
1.1.1.2 Exclusive Economic Zone
1.1.1.3 High seas
1.1.2 1995 Fish Stocks Agreement (FSA)
1.1.3 Compatibility of CFP measures
1.2 Interdependency of stocks with other species and ecosystems
1.2.1 Requirements under 1982 UNCLOS and the FSA
1.2.2 Compatibility of CFP measures and practices
1.3 Assessing, collecting, sharing and using scientific data
1.3.1 Requirements under 1982 UNCLOS and FSA
1.3.2 Compatibility of CFP measures and practices
1.4 Control and enforcement
1.4.1 1982 UNCLOS
1.4.2 FSA
1.4.3 Compliance Agreement
1.4.4 Compatibility of CFP measures and practices
1.5 International cooperation requirements
1.5.1 1982 UNCLOS
1.5.2 FSA
1.5.3 Compliance Agreements
1.5.4 Compatibility of CFP measures and practices
1.6 International legal instruments on the promotion of fisheries
1.6.1 Code of Conduct and the IPOA for the Management of Fishing Capacity
1.6.2 Obligations under the Agreement on Subsidies and Countervailing Measures
1.6.3 Compatibility of CFP measures and practices

2 Fundamental rights implications for fishing limitations under Community law

2.1 Nature of fishing rights under international, Community and national law
2.2 The protection of fundamental rights to fishing opportunities under Community Law
2.2.1 Fundamentals rights protection against fishing limitations

2.2.1.1 Right of ownership

2.2.1.2 Right to choose and practice a trade or profession

2.2.1.3 Fundamental environmental right

2.2.1.4 Principle of the protection of legitimate expectations

2.2.2 Obligation to protect fish stocks

2.2.2.1 Obligation to manage fisheries resources properly

2.2.2.2 Title to sustainable and effective fisheries management

2.3 Conclusion

3 Legality of Commission sanction powers under the CFP

3.1 Brief summary of Art. 23(4) of Regulation 2371/02 and Commission Regulation 147/07

3.2 Legality of Art. 23(4) and Regulation 147/07

3.2.1 The Community’s general and the CFP’s particular implementation deficits

3.2.2 Community sanction competence under Art. 37(2), para. 3 of the Treaty

3.2.3 Proportionality and subsidiarity

3.2.4 Compatibility with Arts. 202, para. 3 and 211, para. 4 of the Treaty

3.2.5 Hierarchy of norms

3.3 Conclusion

Summary and Conclusions

1 The environmental, socioeconomic and political background of the CFP

2 Institutional and organisational structures

3 Management – failures and success

3.1 Conservation measures

3.2 Control and enforcement measures

3.3 Small-scale coastal fisheries

3.4 Finding the right combination of management instruments

4 Promotional measures

5 The integration of promotion and management

6 Access to justice

7 Legal review of measures adopted under the CFP

7.1 Compatibility of the CFP with international management requirements

7.2 Fundamental rights implications for fishing limitations

7.3 Commission quota deduction competence

Bibliography

Table of Cases

Legal Acts and Documents